Have a Happy Mother's Day this weekend!!

Thank you!!:

I want to thank you all for a wonderful teacher appreciation day! The lunch was fabulous and the box of goodies was such fun! I loved reading the cards that the students made. You are all so thoughtful!

Math:

This week we are starting chapter 10 this week in math. This chapter focuses more on money and making change. I have sent home the parent letter for chapter 9 and 10 in the Thursday envelope. I am sending home chapter 9, even though we are just about finished with the chapter because some of the home activities may be of interest to you. I apologize for not sending this home earlier.

Maps:

We are finishing up our mapping unit and each student is making an atlas. They are using all they have learned about maps to invent an imaginary country and city. So far they have made a street map and a physical map of the city and country they have invented. Please ask them what they have learned about maps during this fun unit!

Fun Link:

I came across this link while looking at the Hennepin County Library website. There are some fun activities that your child may enjoy: <http://www.hclib.org/kids/>

Voicethread:

The students are uploading a personal narrative they have written onto voicethread.com. It will probably take us through next week to get all the personal narratives uploaded, but some of them are already on there. Here's a reminder on how to look at your child's account:

- Go to www.voicethread.com
- The login is their first name @ isla.org. For example: Mike@isla.org
- The password is: islaisla

Power Point:

We have just started learning how to make Power Point presentations. The students will eventually work in partners to make their own presentations. We will hopefully be able to upload those to voicethread as well. I'll keep you posted as we work on this project.

Días del Espíritu Escolar:

Remember that tomorrow is Super Hero Day. If a child chooses not to dress up as a super hero, he or she must come to school in uniform.

Fiesta de Primavera:

What a great turnout for the Fiesta! Thanks to all who did such great work, or donated items!
